"The second quarter of 2023 was our 10th consecutive quarter of revenue growth in excess of 20%, fueled by our strong product lineup and continued scaling among high-value users. Revenue outperformance and ongoing cost discipline translated into profits also exceeding our expectations," said co-CEO Lin Song.

"During the quarter we were able to deliver several product updates that point to continued innovation and our ability to quickly iterate. We were able to roll out an entirely new generation of our flagship desktop browser, Opera One, and introduce the world to 'Aria', our unique AI chat bot that is currently available to users of Opera for Android, Opera for iOS, and Opera One. As anticipated, Aria users are displaying increased engagement with the Opera browser, and we remain very excited about the continuation of this roll-out across our user base," continued Mr. Song.

"In particular, the much anticipated roll-out of Aria to Opera GX is scheduled for the third quarter of 2023. While still early days, we believe that the increased engagement we are already seeing will become an additional driver in our ability to grow monetization as more and more of our users upgrade to newer versions of our browsers and take advantage of this integrated service," finished Mr. Song.

Second Quarter and Recent Business Highlights

- Advertising revenue grew 25% year-over-year, and now constitutes 57% of total revenue. This revenue category was driven by Opera Ads, which continues to exceed expectations, and ongoing monetization growth for mobile and GX browsers.
- Search revenue grew 15% year-over-year. The growth in search revenue continues to be driven by our focus on users with the highest monetization potential in western markets.
- Opera had 316 million monthly active users (MAUs) in the second quarter of 2023, down slightly versus the first quarter following our continued strategy of focusing on higher monetizing users. The user base in Western Europe and North America accounted for 15% of our total footprint.
- In the second quarter of 2023, annualized ARPU was $1.17, an increase of 25% versus the second quarter of 2022.
- The Opera GX gaming browser had 23.7 million monthly active users across PC and mobile in the quarter, up 9% from 21.7 million in the first quarter.
- Opera One, our new flagship browser was made available to all desktop users.
- Aria, Opera's AI chat bot, was added to Opera One and Opera for Android during the quarter and is now also available on Opera for iOS.
- In June 2023, Opera announced an ongoing dividend of $0.80 per ADS per annum to be paid semi-annually. The first record date was in June, with payment in July.
- At the end of the second quarter, our cash position was $98 million, up $13 million relative to our cash position of $85 million at the start of the quarter. In addition to our cash balance, we have a combined $196 million of assets held for sale and receivables on our balance sheet, reflecting our 9.5% stake in OPay and remaining receivables from the sale of Star X in 2022.

Business Outlook

"The second quarter of 2023 continued the trend of revenue and EBITDA exceeding guidance, and as a result we are once again raising our full year guidance," said Frode Jacobsen, CFO.

"Furthermore, our healthy cash flow and strong balance sheet enabled us to become a recurring dividend payer in the quarter, a milestone I am incredibly proud of," concluded Mr. Jacobsen.

For the full year of 2023, Opera is raising the previously issued guidance of revenue to be $380 million to $390 million, up from $373 million to 390 million. We guide adjusted EBITDA to be between $80 million and $84 million, or a 21% margin at the midpoints, up from $77 million to $83 million.

For the third quarter of 2023, Opera expects revenue of $97 million to $100 million, representing 15% year-over-year growth at the midpoint. Adjusted EBITDA is expected to be between $18.5 million and $20.5 million, representing a 20% margin at the midpoint.

Non-IFRS Financial Measures

We collect and analyze operating and financial data to evaluate the health of our business and assess our performance. In addition to revenue, net income (loss), operating profit (loss), and other financial measures under IFRS, we use adjusted EBITDA and free cash flow from operations, which are described below, to evaluate our business. We use these non-IFRS financial measures for financial and operational decision-making and as means to evaluate period-to-period comparisons. While these non-IFRS financial measures should not be considered substitutes for, or superior to, the financial information prepared and presented in accordance with IFRS, we believe that these measures provide meaningful supplemental information regarding our performance by excluding certain items that may not be indicative of recurring core business operating results.

We believe these non-IFRS financial measures are useful to investors both because they allow for greater transparency with respect to key metrics used by management in its financial and operational decision-making and because they are used by our institutional investors and the analyst community to help them analyze the health of our business. Accordingly, we believe that these non-IFRS financial measures provide useful information to investors and others in understanding and evaluating our operating results in the same manner as our management team and board of directors. Our calculation of these non-IFRS financial measures may differ from similarly-titled non-IFRS measures, if any, reported by our peers.

We define adjusted EBITDA as net income (loss) excluding (i) profit (loss) from discontinued operations, (ii) income tax (expense) benefit, (iii) net finance income (expense), (iv) share of net income (loss) of equity-accounted investees, (v) impairment of equity-accounted investees, (vi) fair value gain (loss) on investments, (vii) depreciation and amortization, (viii) impairment of non-financial assets, (ix) share-based remuneration, including related social security costs, (x) non-recurring expenses, and (xi) other operating income.

We define free cash flow from operations as net cash flows from (used in) operating activities less (i) purchases of fixed and intangible assets, (ii) development expenditure and (iii) payment of lease liabilities.
